THE AUTHORITY will finance the school through its own bond issue. The school board decided the past month to have it financed this way rather than by floating a school district bond issue.

Approval by the voters at an election would have been required for a school district bond issue. Such approval is not needed for an authority bond issue. For several weeks, school direc-

This modified Georgian home of David Pollock at 245 Rosedale drive was one of the first large homes built in the Rosedale section. It was built 27 years ago by Paul L. A. Keiser, Pottstown contractor, on farmland that was owned by his father. Mayer Pollock, founder of the scrap metal firm bearing his name, of which the son is today one of the partners. The stone is varishaded; the woodwork glossy white; the shutters dark green. Downstairs at left are the living room, and sun porch, with a fire place in each. On the other side of the center hall are the dining room and kitchen. On the second floor are four bedrooms and bath. On the third floor are two bedrooms and a bath. There's a full basement and behind the home a two-car garage. The tree at right was moved to the home from what was becoming the center of Beech street. Behind the sunporch is a rose garden outlined with box wood.

'It's an interesting job all right." she says. "There's one nice 🛊 thing about it, there is no routine to it. With the exception of the regular monthly reports, everything is different."

When she took the job. Miss Mills went into it cold. She was a fiftle unsure of her footing but her superiors told her she would have a time to get adjusted to it before anything happened. They also pointed out that Pottstown had not been the scene of any disasters in quite .

Miss Mills was on the 10h three months when disaster struck. If • war in November 1956 when the area bordering on the Schuslkill inter was hit by a flood. Her newness to the 30b didn't stop Miss . Muls from recruting everyone she could and spending the weekend tending the disaster victims

As one recalls, she was going out on a date that evening. The phone rang and Miss Mills got the word that the flood would reach tts peak in Polistown before too long. Within five minutes she was back in her work clothes, had recruited her date, her mother and her brother and was on her way to the stricken area to evacuate the vic. tims to the Red Closs shelter at the YWCA

She remembers that she worked well into the next morning and that she and her family spent the best part of the weekend on the job Miss Mills also recalls that year as a busy one. The following month. the Red Cross blood program opened here. It was one of the biggest concentrated drives headed by the group

The career of Richard C. Haury 929 Feist avenue has been a varied one. As resident manager of the Phiadelphia sales office of the Robinson Clay Product company, Haury can look back on a career which has included clerking in a grocery store doing general office work and playing saxophone and clarinet in a band

At 41 Haury is the head of . the district office of a company with offices located in many major cities of the Nation. The company has plants in nine cities . in two states. It is the only major. , industry in Pottstown which gets 🛡 its raw material here

Haury is a native of Akron  $\blacksquare$ Ohio who came here in 1946 to head the district sales office. The office was originally located in Philadelphia but Hauty moved it to Pottstown to he near the plant. He is glad he moved the office here because as he said . "I really like it here," Haury savs. "I liked Pottstown from \* the beginning. It is a wonderful town and I've made a lot of very good friends here "

Haury was born in Akron in . 1911 Seventeen years later he was graduated from the South

When he first started with the company. Haury was a mail clerk. After 21 years with the vitrified clay products manufacturers Haury has risen to one of the firm's top positions. But to do it, he had to come up through the ranks

After mail clerk came checking prices in the ordering department. Following that came a stint in the sales department in which Haury quoted prices on orders, bid on jobs and received sales training. A short while after that Haury was sent out on the road selling. His territory covered the northeastern section of Ohio and in it he contacted contractors and huilding supply vards

But Haury was not a man to stop at this point. He had ambitions to head a district. And when a district opening came up. Haury was named to fill it. That was in 1946, and Haury came to Pottstown to head the Philadelphia sales district

Almost until the time he left Akron, Haury played with dance orchestras in the Akron area. He was a sax and clarinet man but he started out on the violin. The switch though not very common. was handy at a time when it had become customary for a sax man to double on the violin

Krouses Back Home ... Soldier On Return . . .

ALL AROUND THE TOWN

★ BACK—There'll be a familiar face in the pulpit of Emmanuel Lutheran church Sunday. But the parishioners who look up into that face will see a new look. It'll be the look of a man who is thoroughly refreshed, and rested. The Rev. Luther A. Krouse, Emmanuel's pastor, will be back with sparkling eyes and renewed spirit after a three-weeks' vacation. With Mrs. Krouse, the pastor returned from a three weeks trip to the Pacific coast Wednesday. The trip was given to the Pottstown couple by the Emmanuel congregation, who provided funds and the leave. The Krouses showed their gratitude yesterday in their enthusiasm for new vistas open to them. It was the first time the Krouses, of 412 Highland road, were as far west as the Pacific coast. . .

THE KROUSES were sent to a Lutheran convention in Seattle, Wash., as special envoys, not as delegates. Pastor Krouse was delegate to two former conventions, this time went as an observer, and returned leisurely after the confab. They extended their visit into California, where they visited some former Pottstonians. First they visited in San Francisco, Irvin E. Kurtz, who is a son of the Rev. Krouse's predecessor at Emmanuel, the late Dr. Irvin B. Kurtz. The Californian's mother, Mrs. Kurtz, still lives here. When the Rev. Krouse walked into the living room of the Kurtz home, he picked a paper off a davenport. It was a copy of The Polistown Mercury! The Kurtz have lived on the Coast for 17 years, and they've taken The Mercury all that time. . .

★ ALSO IN CALIFORNIA the Krouses visited Mr, and Mrs. Donald Graham, former Pottstonians. Donald is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Graham, 531 North Franklin street. Both Kurtz and Graham are employed by Bethlehem Steel company in San Francisco. The Graham's took the Krouses on an autotour which included drives over the Golden Gate bridge (fabricated by Beth-1. The clerk asked where they were from-On reply he said: "Why I have a cousin in Scranton!" Then, when a waitress in their first restaurant asked the same question, she remarked: "Why, I have a cousin in Phoenixville." Somehow, they felt, the world was small! They passed through 20 different States, saw Mt. Ranier twice from a distance of 60 miles in Seattle, and marveled at the wonderful weather in Oregon where folks had gone 37 days without rain in a normal wet season!

SOME HEALTH disorders are the result of man's progress. We can dive under the sea, but we must guard against decompression sickness and the "bends." We can fly high in the air, but must then take care of our ears.

A man in flight subjects himself to physical variations and changes of his body structure that he would not meet on the ground. Flight pasengers are familiar with the way variations in air. pressure affect the pressure in the mid-

When a man goes up in a plane, the pressure of the atmosphere outside the body becomes less than at ground level. This allows the air in the middle ear to expand, and some of it passes out through the Eustachian tubes leading to the throat. A person will sometimes notice that this causes a "popping" within the ear.

The air keeps expanding until the plane reaches its highest altitude. When it begins its descent, the atmospheric pressure increases again. This is where the apset trouble begins. In many cases the outside air is blocked from returning to the middle ear, which thus becomes a pocket of low pressure air. The eardrum is pressed in, the person has a sense of pressure in the ear and his hearing is impaired. There is a possibility of inflammation of the tubes to the middle ear, and even hemorrhage and infection-

This disorder is known as aerotitis. If repeated too often, it can permanently damage the hearing. It is especially important for passengers with colds not to fly unless necessary, because they are more prone to this condition. Various inhalers are used to shrink the infected membranes, and may provide some safety it flying is absolutely necessary. One of the best ways to prevent aero-

litis is the use of modern pressurized
